1986 Norden Distinguished Teacher

The 1986 Norden Distinguished Teacher Award was presented to Dr. Lawrence H. Arp at the Award Ceremony last April. Each year, Norden Laboratories presents this award to a faculty member, chosen by students and fellow faculty members, for outstanding teaching in veterinary medicine.

Dr. Arp. earned his DVM at Iowa State University in 1970. Upon graduation he worked in private practice in Arizona and Oregon. In 1977 Dr. Arp came to Ames, IA as a research pathologist with the National Animal Disease Center. He entered a graduate program at Iowa State University in 1977, earning his Ph.D. in Veterinary Pathology in 1981.

Dr. Arp joined the faculty at Iowa State University as an associate professor in the Department of Veterinary Pathology in 1982 and became a full professor in 1986. He is also a participating member of the Immunobiology faculty. Dr. Arp is a Diplomate to the American College of Veterinary Pathologists and the American College of Veterinary Microbiologists. He has team-taught general and systemic pathology to second-year veterinary students since 1982. He regularly participates in diagnostic pathology rotations with fourth-year veterinary students and graduate students. Dr. Arp currently teaches graduate courses in pathology and microbiology. He has authored numerous publications in several scientific journals and is doing research in pathology and microbiology of infectious diseases of domestic animals and poultry.

Dr. Lawrence Arp points out some of the finer details to sophomore pathology students.
