

STAFF NOTES

Pasha Beresnev is a junior majoring in civil engineering and French LCP from Ames. His majors don't make him seem like the type, but he likes to write and read a good book whenever he gets the chance. This summer, he went to Europe with his family, as well as to New York to watch the US Open, and this year he will be studying abroad in Switzerland.

Leigh Cameron is a sophomore, currently majoring in English Literature, and possibly minoring in Philosophy, as well as Environmental Studies. This is her first Sketch and she hopes you will enjoy it!

Cory Knoot is a Biochemistry major. He plans to attend graduate school after graduation.

Bailey Lewis is a junior with a double major in Creative Advertising and English Literature with an emphasis in creative writing.

Greta Mugge is a sophomore majoring in English Literature, with the hope to enter book editing and publishing. She plans to continue working with Sketch and was impressed with all the great entries this semester!

Annihka Murray obsesses over font choices and justification issues when she isn't playing ultimate frisbee or sewing her own clothes. After her very first ten months of undergraduate study in Iowa she has concluded that while her Colorado Rocky Mountains may provide a nice backdrop, they aren't nearly as charming as a midwestern fire fly.

Kasey Pfab majored in English, and graduated in May of 2009. He writes prose and poetry, though when he isn't too busy getting rejected by countless MFA programs and women, he sits alone in his bedroom eating Cheetos (Puffs, not Crunchy) and watching Law and Order spinoffs. He splits his time among his apartment in Ames, his parents' house in Cascade, and on Facebook.

Rachel Schmidt is a sophomore majoring in English Education with a minor in History. Her plans after graduation include not starving and helping others to be happy. She hopes you are happy reading Sketch! Enjoy!

STAFF NOTES

Dawn Schrandt graduated in May 2009 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English Literature. She is currently a graduate student studying Library Science.

Arun Sethuraman is pursuing a doctoral degree in bioinformatics. He enjoys magical-realism, existentialism, Pink Floyd, and field biology.

Julie Sondgeroth Julie Sondgeroth is a senior in Literary Studies, and graduated in May 2009.

Jillian Tanner is a junior in Technical Communication. She currently plans to work in the health care industry writing brochures for patients. In her spare time, Jillian enjoys reading Jane Austen.

Sarah Tisinger is a junior in journalism and mass communications from Bettendorf, IA and is the third child in her family to attend Iowa State University. Her emphasis is in magazine journalism with a concentration in English. She is also the publicity chairperson for the ISU Rodeo Club, a member of the ISU Equestrian Team, an opinion columnist for the Iowa State Daily and helps with sponsor relations for the 47th Cyclone Stampede Rodeo. It is her hope to someday combine her love of writing and photography to work for a horseback riding related magazine and hopefully find time to publish a book or two.

Jenny Tokheim is a sophomore in English Education, and she loves a good poem!

Jennie Walker is in her last semester as an undergraduate in English and Animal Science and will hopefully be starting grad school next fall. She wants to be a sheep farmer and exist on Indian cuisine.
