

transatlantic subway

by thom pigaga

English, Soph.

rockford line at half past eight might be runnin so dont be late pour on the coal and pump out the steam rockford line takes you into a dream mainline rockford line at half past ten gonna have to pay your fare again pull on the whistle and blow on the horn makes you feel like you never were born
mainline
rockford line in another town storm comin up and the sky comin down no engineer no people in view rockford line takes care of you
mainline
rockford line goin slow people outside no one you know never in the day but always at night rockford line keeps you uptight
mainline
rockford line its pullin up fast takes you back what you been past dont try to fight its startin to roll rockford line looks into your soul
mainline
rockford line its painted black slowin down now youre comin back far off whistle says thats the end tomorrow night take a ride again
mainline