Faculty Leaving

Several faculty members have accepted new positions elsewhere in recent months. We have enjoyed having them with us, and we wish them well in their new endeavors.

Dr. Loren Appell in Clinical Sciences will now be teaching at Oregon State University

Dr. William Wilson, formerly in Clinical Sciences, is now at the University of California.

Dr. Davis of Veterinary Microbiology has returned to England.

Drs. Julia and Michael Riley will be working at the International Research and Development Corporation in Mattawan, Michigan. They formerly were part of the Department of Pathology.

Dr. Russell Mitten is now at the University of Melbourne in Melbourne, Australia. Dr. Mitten worked in the Department of Clinical Sciences.

Dr. David Graham of the Department of Pathology has gone to Cornell University and will join their Department of Avian and Aquatic Animal Medicine.

Drs. R.M. and J. Löfstedt of Clinical Sciences.

1981 Norden Distinguished Teacher Award

Dr. Franklin Ahrens was chosen to receive the 1981 Norden Distinguished Teacher Award. The award is presented annually by Norden Laboratories to a faculty member for his/her contribution to Veterinary Education. Dr. Ahrens received a memorial plaque and a check for $400 along with the award.

Dr. Franklin Ahrens

Dr. Ahrens received his DVM from Kansas State University in 1959. He then spent a year at the University of Minnesota as a resident clinician. In 1960, Dr. Ahrens entered the U.S. Air Force, where he attained the rank of Lieutenant/Captain in the Veterinary Corps, serving for 3 years in Laon, France. Upon completing his military duty, he obtained a position as Research Assistant at Cornell University. He later received his M.S. (65) and Ph.D. (68) degrees at Cornell, majoring in pharmacology, and with minors in pathology and biochemistry.

Dr. Ahrens joined the staff at Iowa State University in 1968 as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Physiology and Pharmacology. He served as Acting Chairman of the department in 1979. He has been actively involved in toxicology research and has published many articles. Dr. Ahrens lives in Ames with his wife and four children.

In Memorium Dr. Russel L. Kemp

With the death of Russell L. Kemp on September 17, 1981, the student body, faculty, and university lost a valued professor and colleague. His enthusiasm for life and desire for excellence have touched many who will remember his dedication, brilliance, and concern. Dr. Kemp's excitement at seeing students learn, and patience with those who didn't was blended in a unique fashion with his openness, active listening, insight, intelligence, and humor. This made "the parasitology experience" special, creating an atmosphere of learning and fun. During his fourteen years of service to the students and staff at Iowa State, he made a lasting impression with lasting contributions. Dr. Kemp helped to establish, and then continuously improved upon, the student-oriented parasitology course, including a large catalogue of auto-tutorial aids. At the time of his death, Dr. Kemp was expanding these aids to include computer-programmed instruction and programming of all pathology reports for research and education. Dr. Kemp was also instrumental in planning the new veterinary medical facility, particularly the planning of the Department of Veterinary Pathology.

Humor and intelligence hallmarked Dr. Kemp's relationship with students and faculty. Instances such as: a pet gordian worm, dubbed the "brookworm" and "Gordy," accompanying him to lab for 3 months; being applauded by the Class of '83 when giving a quiz over expected material on Dirofilaria immitis; comparing a certian parasitology exam to the equivalent of pithing frogs; cartooning on the blackboard; pleading for a few gallons of feces from a lamb with coccidiosis; and being able to discuss intelligently, diverse subjects from hobbies to politics, from science to the arts. Such instances will cause those who knew Dr. Kemp to smile when they remember him.

Dr. Kemp's varied interests reached from flying, sailing, acting, and ham radio operation to tropical medicine, coccidiosis, and blackhead in turkeys. Dr. Kemp was a scoutmaster for several years and passed advanced training for scoutmasters, earning the woodbadge. He was also on the scouting commissioner's staff for Broken Arrow District.

Dr. Kemp's academic and professional involvements included membership in numerous associations: The American Society of Parasitologists, Society of Protozoology, American Society of Avian Pathologists, Poultry Science Association, American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene, and the editorial advisory board for Avian Diseases. His faculty committee memberships included the ISU Faculty Council, College of Veterinary Medicine Curriculum Committee, Student AVMA Bookstore Committee—Advisor, Computer Advisory Committee, College of Veterinary Medicine Educational Resources Committee, the Animal Resources Committee, several graduate student committees, and the Traffic Council. His membership in honorary societies included Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Xi, Phi Sigma, Gamma Sigma Delta, and Phi Zeta.

Dr. Kemp received his BA from the College of Wooster (Ohio) and received his Ph.D. from the University of Georgia. He came to the College of Veterinary Medicine in 1967 as Associate Professor and in 1973 was promoted to Professor in the Department of Veterinary Pathology.

Born in 1936 to Russell and Louise Kemp in Mansfield, Ohio, Dr. Kemp is survived by his wife, Toby; his mother, Louise Kemp, Ashland, Ohio; his children, Gary, Karen, and Martin, and stepson Donald; a brother, R. Gary Kemp, Greenville, Tennessee; and a sister, Judith Schroeder, Richland, Washington.

An educator and humanitarian of the quality exemplified by Dr. Kemp is rare. He will be remembered by all who had the privilege to know him. It is to Dr. Kemp that this issue of The Iowa State University Veterinarian is dedicated.

A memorial fund has been established in Dr. Kemp's name. Proceeds from this fund will be used to purchase books for the Veterinary Medical Library. Inscribed with a statement to his memory, these books will benefit many people for many years. This is an especially fitting memorial because Dr. Kemp took a deep interest in the library. Contributions to the fund can be made by sending a check to the I.S.U. Achievement Foundation, Alumni Suite, Memorial Union, Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa 50011. The check should be payable to the I.S.U. Achievement Foundation and designated for the "Russell Kemp Memorial Fund".
