Dear Hope Mitchell,

Thank you for your request. We do not allow an entire book to be uploaded to an institutional repository, so would it be possible to choose a chapter from Girls Coming to Tech? for inclusion in the Digital Repository at Iowa State University? I am happy to allow the Digital Repository at Iowa State to upload "A Bibliography of Technology and the African-American Experience," for scholarly non-commercial use. Please indicate that this essay is reprinted from Technology and the African-American Experience: Needs and Opportunities for Study, edited by Bruce Sinclair, published by The MIT Press. We would be grateful if you included a link to the book in our site:

I look forward to hearing from you.

Very best,

Pamela Quick

Dear Ms. Quick,

I work for the Iowa State University Library and I have been working with Dr. Amy Bix to get their scholarship deposited in our institutional repository, Digital Repository @ Iowa State University. Dr. Bix is either the author or contributing author of the following works and I am writing for permission to deposit portions of her work in our repository.

Dr. Bix is the author or co-author of the following works,

- 'Girls Coming to Tech!': A History of American Engineering Education for Women; (Cambridge: MIT Press, 2014).

- "A Bibliography of Technology and the African-American Experience," Technology and the African-American Experience: Needs and Opportunities for Study, Bruce Sinclair, ed.; (Cambridge: MIT Press, 2004): 197-232.

Digital Repository @ Iowa State University is a non-commercial institutional repository that provides access to the scholarship of Iowa State University's faculty, students and staff. This scholarship is made available for personal, educational and research use. All articles deposited in the repository are described with complete bibliographic information for the original publication and includes an explicit statement identifying the date and owner of copyright.

Please let me know if we have permission to deposit these articles in our repository. I look forward to hearing from you.

Best,

Hope Mitchell
