

Editorial Notes

Dear Readers,

As the editors of the ISU Veterinarian this year, we enjoyed having a variety of materials to choose from for compiling a more enjoyable publication. We would like to have such choices in the future in the form of written work as well as art and photos.

Since this publication is received by many alumni of the Veterinary College we would like to encourage alumni to contribute to future issues. In addition we always welcome submissions from students and faculty of Iowa State University. We feel that contributions from those who read our publication will make the issues more interesting and informative.

Sincerely,
Alicia and Kristin
