The Ames Forester Salutes Its Alumni

This year forestry is in the ascendant. Our alumni, who are in the field carrying on under the new order of things, have for us a special significance: They represent the ability to rise to emergency, to master difficulty. This ability is reflected upon us, the undergraduates. It is our potential heritage, for we and our alumni are both descending from the same Institution.

The AMES FORESTER dedicates this publication to all its alumni—who have founded and maintained our traditions.
