

Impressionist

Anonymous lovers of my art sigh with each stroke as night time renditions of erotica flow from my brush. In the dark I imagine lovely Mona Lisa lines as I smear the canvas. The sunrise colors of my palette run together and stain me blue. Portraits never framed fade yellow in the closet that has no key. The severed ear still bleeds.

-Jim Peters